Dalai Calls For Int'l Probe In Tibetan Revolt

INDIA (Reuter). — The Dalai Lama on Saturday called for an international commission to probe the Tibetan revolt. He said the Tibetan Government would agree to an international commission to investigate the Tibetan situation. The 23-year-old "God-King" addressing his first full press conference since his dramatic flight across the Himalayas after the Tibetan revolt in March, said that he and his government would abide by the results of such an impartial inquiry.

The Dalai Lama, who fled Tibet, has been in India since 1959, told more than 70 press correspondents from all over the world that he considered referring his country's problems to the U.N. The revolt was still going on in Tibet, he said, and he would welcome meetings between the Indian and Chinese Prime Ministers. "If actual peace in Tibet is considered in their true perspective," he told reporters.

In Lhasa, the Panchen Lama, Chinese-backed head of the Tibetan Government, said on Friday that the Tibetan rebels had been virtually wiped out and were working peacefully and working happily, according to the new China News Agency.

The Dalai Lama said that he would return to his country only if Tibet regained the rights and powers exercised before 1959 (when the Chinese invaded Tibet). He told the press that in addition to the 60,000 Tibetans killed, "many" had been deported to China.

More than 5 million Chinese settlers had been brought into Tibet, he said, and 4 million more were coming. The Chinese were "making all out propaganda for the formation of people's communes."

The Dalai Lama said he considered himself the head of the Tibetan Government in exile and until Britain had been restored to its position in the Middle East, he would not restore relations with Britain. "We shall not restore relations with Britain until she has lost all hope of restoring our growing Arab nationalism... We shall not restore relations with Britain until she has lost all hope of restoring our growing Arab nationalism... We shall not restore relations with Britain until she has lost all hope of restoring our growing Arab nationalism..."

Dag Urges Aid Until Refugees 'Absorbed'

UNITED NATIONS (Reuter). — In a report published Saturday, Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld recommended continued U.N. aid to Palestine refugees "until such time as these were absorbed into the economic life of the Middle East."

Mr. Hammarskjöld stressed the need for development of the U.N. Relief and Works Agency whose present mandate expires next year. In his report, which will go before the General Assembly at its next session, in the autumn, Mr. Hammarskjöld "strongly and unreservedly" advocated that the agency's work should be continued.

The Secretary-General said that "viewed from the economic angle the reintegration of the Palestine refugees into productive life must be considered a fairly long process, but it is perfectly within reach, provided that the area can be developed through sufficient capital formation."

Encouraging Elements
The recent acceleration in the rate of progress and the great natural resources are encouraging elements. However, capital imports would probably have to be considerable if it is found desirable to reintegration be furthered without considerable delay. It follows that, irrespective of the fact that humanitarian reasons would urge call for continued assistance to the refugees, such assistance is also strongly indicated as a sound part of any programme of economic development in the area.

In the light of these considerations, and disregarding for the moment both political and psychological factors, as well as the humanitarian aspects of the problem, I strongly and unreservedly recommend the continuing of U.N. activities in support of the refugees pending the reintegration of the refugee population into the "productive" life of the area.

Mr. Hammarskjöld declared earlier in his report that he was not proposing a solution of the problem as a whole. However, he suggested that the lines he suggested might help towards a solution with justice and equity for all concerned.

5 Bombs Blast Uneasy Calm In Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (Reuter). — Five bombs exploded in Buenos Aires on Saturday, injuring two people and causing a least seven houses, amid a new crisis over military discontent with President Arturo Frondizi's reported Peronist links.

One bomb wrecked the home of Rear-Admiral Alberto P. de la Riva, who was government trustee in charge of the Federal Federation of Labor after the 1955 anti-Peron revolution, and seriously damaged five nearby houses.

At the seaside resort of Mar del Plata, police reported an explosion of some kind in the lift shaft of an apartment house.

President Frondizi, who has survived the time being an apparent campaign by some officers to force him from office, on Saturday presided over national celebrations marking Flag Day.

He took the salute of recruits after they had taken the oath of loyalty to the flag in an annual ceremony outside Government House.

Although the pagant was held in brilliant sunshine, the clouds which usually watch it stayed home. Police outnumbered the meagre group of onlookers who remained silent when the President appeared on the balcony.

The civilian population has so far shown little interest in the unrest engendered by the opposition of some sections of the armed forces to the President.

Despite the present calm, observers here regard the situation as far from settled. They think even some sort of concession by President Frondizi to pressure from the armed forces might fail to please their various conflicting factions.

Geneva Talks Adjourn 3 Weeks; Russia: Summit Now More Vital

BERLIN (Reuter). — The Soviet Union and East Germany said on Saturday they were "determined to take all necessary measures for the most speedy ending of the abnormal situation in West Berlin."

In a joint communiqué, issued after the visit to Russia of an East German Government delegation, the two Governments described the situation in West Berlin as "unbearable." It said the two Governments "stress the great importance they attach to a summit conference for the peaceful settlement of the most pressing international problems, including the peace treaty with Germany and the West Berlin question."

The German leaders, Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl and his Party chief, Mr. Walter Ulbricht, returned to Berlin by air Saturday.

Addressing the East German delegation in the Kremlin on Saturday, before the adjournment of the Geneva talks, Premier Khrushchev said that if the Foreign Ministers failed to agree, a summit meeting would become "even more essential," and he would go "with pleasure, more than once," to meet the Western leaders.

Mr. Khrushchev said if Russia had to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany, it would be an illusion to believe that their rights of communications with Berlin would remain.

He made these other points: 1. A subordinate position for East Germany in the West proposed all-German committee was "unacceptable." 2. Russia's one year time limit on Berlin was not an ultimatum and another time limit could be agreed on by a "businesslike approach."

3. The policy of German militarists headed by Dr. Adenauer was getting "daily more dangerous" and held "a threat to peace." 4. Geneva could still make headway if the West would argue not from a "position of strength" but from a "position of wisdom."

Regret Western Stand
The communiqué issued in Moscow Saturday, repeated Soviet and East German proposals tabled at the Geneva conference and said the two delegations regretted that the Western powers had up to now not been ready to discuss them factually.

It said the question of the period for a transitional status for West Berlin while a peace treaty was prepared was not a matter of principle. The German Democratic Republic and the Soviet Union will not be ready to sanction the continuance of the occupation regime in West Berlin for an unlimited period.

U.N. Chief Due In Cairo Next Week

JERUSALEM Post Political Reporter
The U.N. Secretary-General, Dag Hammarskjöld, has definitely decided to leave New York at the end of this week for his Middle East visit, which is expected to arrive in Cairo on June 30, it was confirmed in Jerusalem on Saturday.

It is believed, however, that the Secretary-General will most likely not visit Jerusalem.

Erhard-Adenauer Rift Widens

BOEN (Reuter). — The Parliamentary group of West Germany's ruling Christian Democratic Party will try to force Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his Economics Minister, Ludwig Erhard, to resign.

The statement was prepared as a partial answer to implied threats contained in the joint Soviet-East German communiqué issued in Moscow (see Column 6).

West's Chief Rabbis May Act On Soviet Religious Persecution

NEW YORK (Reuter). — The President of the New York Board of Rabbis, Rabbi David Golovinski, on Friday called the Chief Rabbis of Britain, Rabbi Brodie, and the Chief Rabbi of France, Rabbi Kaplan, drew "urgent attention" to the New York Times story of June 19, "concerning the systematic elimination of Soviet Jewish religious life."

The cable to the Chief Rabbi of Britain, Rabbi Brodie, and the Chief Rabbi of France, Rabbi Kaplan, drew "urgent attention" to the New York Times story of June 19, "concerning the systematic elimination of Soviet Jewish religious life."

Roman Circus Found in Italy May Rival Colosseum in Splendor

ROME (Reuter). — Italian archaeologists have discovered a Roman circus here, dating from the third century C.E., which may rival the Colosseum in magnificence.

Begun during the turbulent and bloody reign of the Emperor Hellogabalus, it is probably about 500 yards long and 120 yards wide.

Part of the 20-foot high brick tribunes surrounding the arena has also been found virtually undamaged.

Meir: Israel Ready For Arab Peace Talks

CARACAS, Venezuela (Reuter). — Mrs. Golda Meir, the Israeli Foreign Minister, said at a press conference here Friday night that Israel seeks peace with Arab countries and would meet representatives of Arab countries anywhere for peace talks.

Six months after her statement at the end of the press conference on the second day of her visit to Venezuela during her Latin American tour.

Communists Held In Khartoum

KHARTOUM (AP). — The leader of the Sudan Communist Party, Abdul Halek Mahgoub, and his secretary, Abhi Rahim Gassala, were among 13 Communists arrested here on Friday. Altogether, more than 100 Communists are under arrest and their trial is expected soon.

The "New York Times" reported on Saturday that three major factors had been responsible for the Senate's vote — Mr. Strauss' personality and philosophy of government; particularly his use of the doctrine of executive privilege to withhold information from congressional committees; lobbying by high Administration officials, which antagonized many opposition Democrats; and mistakes by Mr. Strauss and the Republican leadership in presenting his case to the Commerce Committee.

MOROCCO BANS EGYPTIAN FILM

An Egyptian film glorifying the Algerian revolution, the Algerian beauty sentenced to death (and then reprieved) for her part in the rebellion, has been banned in Morocco, Beirut Radio said on Saturday. It explained that the Moroccan Government was anxious not to encourage anti-French sentiment.

T.V. Here in 3 Years—Maybe

No decision on introducing television into Israel until after the Knesset elections.

This was stated Friday night by Dr. Y. Spira, Program Director of Kol Yisrael, at a "Voice Newspaper" held in Beit Sakhlov on the subject: "Television in Israel — For and Against."

"We can't stop the march of television," said Dr. Spira, noting that it could broaden popular spheres of interest. It was, however, a powerful weapon which must be placed in the hands of the State to prevent its exploitation for other purposes," he said.

Another speaker, Mr. Haim Polzan, Manager of the Knesset Agency, urged Israel to take its time in branching out into television. The lack of local know-how and talent would inevitably bring in a flood of "canned" foreign programmes, he warned, and a certain standard, "we have still not produced a film that is worth seeing."

The stage director, Peter Frye, agreed that television could be a dangerous instrument, but then so could radio, film and newspapers. He suggested that television be put under a public authority and that be developed in the hands of a community instrument.

"We should aim at having a set in every village, settlement and community centre — not necessarily in every house," stated Mr. Frye.

Paris Runaway, 15, Arrives to Join Mother

LYDDA AIRPORT. — The 15-year-old boy, Israel Goren, who ran away from his school in Paris last week to return to Israel, arrived here aboard an El Al plane late Thursday night.

His elder brother told reporters that he had no idea what arrangements would be made for the boy as the "family had no means to support him." The boy himself said he might go to a kibbutz.

Young Goren had formerly lived in Israel, but was taken to France by his father, Eliezer, and a brother, Eliezer.

His flight by El Al, financed by the Israel Consulate in Paris, was his fifth attempt, and first legal one, to return to this country. (Him)

74-Year-Old Swede Cycling to Jerusalem

VIENNA (Reuters). — Seventy-four-year-old Gustaf Haakonson arrived in Vienna on Friday from Sweden on a cycling trip to Jerusalem.

Mr. Haakonson, a former truck driver, hopes to be back in Sweden by autumn after visiting all the spots in Jerusalem where Jesus Christ is said to have been.

Mr. Haakonson is married and has eight children. His children do not mind his bicycle trips, but his wife is against them, he told reporters.

This is Mr. Haakonson's first really long trip, although he has cycled all over Sweden and West Germany. He does not carry a tent but sleeps in a sleeping bag by the roadside.

POLAND vs. ISRAEL:

100,000 to View Match Today: Poland Pre-Game Favourite

By PAUL KOHN, Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — Reports reaching here indicated that a crowd of 100,000 will view today's Poland versus Israel international soccer match at Wroclaw, West Poland, more than 70,000 tickets have been already sold.

The Israel contingent of 15 players and six escorts that arrived at Wroclaw by a LOT Polish airliner were greeted by a large crowd of Jews who made their way to the city from all parts of Poland and from as far away as Vilna, Lithuania. The Israel Selected had its work-out on Polish ground on Friday.

The entire match will be broadcast by Kol Yisrael, a running commentary by Nechama Levenbach, who is relayed from the field. The broadcast will begin at 3:30 p.m. Israel time. If it comes over clearly, a commentary of the second half of the Warsaw versus Tel Aviv match on Wednesday will also be broadcast.

While the Israel lineup is better than that which took the field against Wales last year, Poland must still be regarded as the favorite, particularly as they are playing at home. Poland has been very active on the international football scene, but what their teams have shown would place them just below the top flight of European international football.

More recently — in Hamburg, last month — Poland drew 1-1 with West Germany, which is its best performance since taking Russia to three games in the World Cup preliminaries early in 1958. Then Poland beat Russia 2-1, lost 0-1 and in the third match went down 0-2. Between these games, it drew with Elze 2-2 and lost 1-2 to Scotland.

Getting goals will be Israel's problem, one that has troubled us for many years. Although at times playing as well as the opponents in mid-field, converting opportunities to goals has been Israel's glaring weakness. This past year, the Israel selected lost 0-3 to Liege Standard, 0-1 to Brazil, and 0-2 to both Germany and Wales.

The weaknesses in the Israel team are on the wings and at center forward. The defense of Reznik, Mathany and Mordekoyitz supported by wing halves Tich and Goldstein (or Amar) is good and will give the Poles a hard fight. But only the inside forwards, Stelmach and Menezel, in the attack, and unless Gila Mandy has sudden found someone to convert the openings they make, Israel is not likely to score more than one goal. However, this may be enough to get us a draw, if the defense is in top fighting form.

Ben-Ephraim's Bid For Bail Denied

TEL AVIV. — District Court Relieving President M. Kinner on Friday turned down a request by Zvi Ben-Ephraim, former Elit Municipal Treasurer, to be released in lieu of $10,000 bail, being held for distributing forged promissory notes.

A representative of the prosecution said the accused had confessed to a number of charges against him in connection with forging checks and bills amounting to tens of thousands of pounds as well as taking bribes. Thus, "there is no fear that the accused will be sitting in detention for nothing."

Two other persons held in connection with the case were on Friday ordered detained for an additional number of days. Magistrate Y. Toren, who said, "being held for investigation," ordered the building contractor, Zalman Damocher, was ordered detained for seven more days.

The second Shlomo Eisenberg, Haifa, received three more days.

The Elit Local Council is to publish notice of the vacancy of Toren, Treasurer, in the course of this week, it is reported from Elit.

Ghana to Have Law Against False Reports

ACCRA (Reuters). — A bill providing for up to 15 years imprisonment for anyone making a false statement about Ghana or the Ghana Government "by word of mouth or in writing or by any other means," was published as a draft in the official Gazette on Saturday.

The bill, which will be submitted to the House of Assembly (Parliament) shortly, is called the Offences against the State (False Reports) Bill, and is part of the Government's declared policy of tightening the laws on treason and sedition.

The bill is a direct result of statements alleged by the Government to have been made in London and Accra in recent months by leading Ghanaians in opposition to the Government.

Mr. Kojo Boto, Minister of Economic Affairs and Leader of the House, told the National Assembly on Friday that the Government is "determined that the rule of law and the use of democratic processes should never be used to characterize the country's development."

Brothers Meet for An Hour After 20 Years

Jerusalem Post Reporter

HAIFA. — Two brothers who had neither seen nor heard from each other since they fled the advancing Nazis 20 years ago, met again last Wednesday. But their meeting, which lasted less than an hour, will probably be their last for many years.

Hillel Hoffman, a pastry cook, arrived in Haifa from Poland in 1957 to settle in Afula. Last Wednesday, he and his family came to the port to emigrate to Toronto, where they have relatives. After their luggage had been stowed aboard, Mr. Hoffman ran into an old acquaintance from Poland in the passenger hall. While saying goodbye to him, the friend asked him whether he had taken leave of his brother. "Which brother?" Hoffman asked. "I haven't heard from him since 1939."

to allow the regime to continue without a time limit and the West has refused to abandon it until divided Germany is re-united.

In an effort to get round this problem, the West's latest plan is to demand for formal Russian recognition of their occupation rights.

Mr. Gromyko countered on Friday by extending the one-year "deadline" on the occupation to 15 months, while an all-German committee prepared re-unification.

Mr. Herter made no statement to reporters but was very cheerful as he climbed the steps of his aircraft on Saturday to return home.

Mr. Andrew Harding, chief American spokesman, told reporters before he stepped into the plane: "We came here with the idea of making a success of the conference and we intend to try again in three weeks' time."

Mr. Gromyko and the French Foreign Minister, Mr. Maurice Couve de Murville, are leaving Geneva for their capitals today.

Nuclear Talks

Meanwhile, another conference goes on — the seven-month-old talks here on nuclear test-ban agreement which are due to start technical discussions tomorrow on the problems of detecting high altitude tests.

When Mr. Lloyd called Mr. Herter yesterday to say goodbye, they discussed the nuclear talks with their chief delegates, Sir Michael Wright and Mr. James Wadsworth.

The conference is trying to negotiate a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests under adequate international inspection and control.
